Corrections

A story on page 1B on Sept. 1 stated incorrectly the results of an investigation by the Wake County Board of Elections into claims by the Voter Integrity Project that 528 Wake County residents on the voter rolls were not citizens and should not be allowed to vote. The board found that 517 of the residents were eligible to vote, but removed 11 names from its registry and referred them to U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement, said Cherie Poucher, elections board director.
