Thanks for the news, Caroline!

Would it be too much trouble to close out the early voting period with a Saturday night press release that will include the final tally of those statistics?

Thx agn,

Jay

Hi Jay,

I wanted to follow up and let you know that we have included numbers related to voters who have requested absentee by-mail ballots in this evening's press release:

Thanks Caroline.

If I'm following you, then the "requested" number only increases, so... would it be too much trouble to report the cumulative number of absentee ballots cancelled?

Thx agn,
Jay

Good morning Jay, and thanks for the kind words about our homepage.

The number of "Absentee Ballots Requested" on the homepage, is exactly that: the number of ballots requested. It does not reflect the number of voters who have requested a ballot(s), nor does it reflect the number of voters who requested a ballot(s) and then voted in person at a one-stop early voting site instead.

Please reach out with any additional questions.

Caroline

Hi Gang.

You've got a great landing page!

We had some questions about one of the numbers the "absentee ballots requested" statistic.

As you know, lots of people requested ballots and then opted to vote abs one-stop.

When that happens, we happily noticed that your software cancels the requested ballot as soon as the one-stop vote is ingested.

My question: How do the cancelled ballots affect the "absentee ballots requested" statistic?

Thanks,

Jay
